

Clematis 'Bijou'

Exclusive to certain garden centres

Selling

May

Features

A mound forming type clematis with large pale violet / mauve rosette shaped flowers with a slight pinkish bar, from early to mid Summer.

Benefits

Ideal for small gardens, containers or at the front of a border growing through other plants. Mound forming so no need to support it .Very free flowering.

Story

Developed, in 2005, by Raymond Evison in Guernsey. This is part of a new low growing dwarf clematis collection. Can be grown in a well lit living room or conservatory, as well as outdoors.

Basic Information

Plant type

Mound forming climbing large flowered hybrid

Flowers

Pale violet mauve flowers from early Summer

Height after 4 years

30cm (12")

Spread after 4 years

n/a

Position

Any position, except north facing aspects.

Hardiness

Hardy